6. Special Project Time (SPT)

Special Project Time (SPT) allows students the opportunity to integrate course materials. SPT is meant to be a self-contained, 30 hour experience, requiring no more than 30 hours to complete. SPT generally focuses on either (a) an experiential exercise paired with an integrative writing component or (b) a research exercise and a short integrative writing component.

An integrative, SPT experience can be based on an individual project or a group project. Once again, the individual or group completes an experiential or a research oriented exercise, followed by a short integrative writing assignment. This should all be planned within the context of a 30 hour student expectation.

SPT experiences may be constructed in such a way that they pertain to students’ unique degree plans. For example, Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist students, Licensed Professional Counselor students, and Licensed School Counselor students might construct a SPT experience unique to their chosen disciplines. This is done in consultation with the course instructor.

7. Writing Guidelines including APA Format

All written assignments in courses at the Adler Graduate School must be in APA format unless specifically noted by the course instructor (Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (5th edition), 2001, American Psychological Association. ISBN 1-55798-791-2).

8. Assessment/Evaluation Procedures

8.1 Special Project Time: Theoretical Comparative Analysis (25 points).

Compose a 5-6 page paper (NOT including title page and references) comprehensive comparative analysis of 4-5 of the career development theories addressed in the text and in class. Compare and contrast the theories, including how these career development theories compare with Adlerian theory. Identify which theories/approaches best fit “your anthropology” and counseling style.

8.3 Special Project Time: Career Portfolio (40 points)

A career portfolio is a collection of artifacts that reflect your experience, education, training, goals, mission, theoretical approach to counseling, writing and research endeavors, case management, ethics, your “brand”, community service or volunteer work, and any knowledge/experience/tools used to work with special populations or specialized areas. The overall goal of this project is to organize your information in a way that is professional and enables you to “tell your story” and establish your credentials with your targeted audience. The instructor will provide additional information on how to construct a portfolio.

8.4 Special Project Time: Draft Portfolio Presentations (10 points)

Each student will provide a 10-minute presentation of their draft career portfolio. Participants will receive feedback from their colleagues regarding how well the portfolio is geared toward its targeted audience, organization/structure, visual appeal, and the quality of the artifacts used. These recommendations can be used to improve the quality and professionalism of the final career portfolio project.

8.5 Class Participation (25 points)

Since this class is highly experiential, learners will be evaluated on participation in the formal and informal career assessments used in class, as well as discussion topics.

8.6 Grading:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Points</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>90-100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>80-89</td>

<tr>

<td>70-79</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Papers turned in late will be docked 10 points. For students who do not turn in all assignments and their final portfolio by 5:00 PM Monday, July 2, the grade of R (Retake) will be recorded for the course. The designated drop-off spot for the portfolios will be a box in the faculty mailbox area.

Please understand these logical consequences for late papers. Logical consequences are a basic Adlerian principle. Extensions on papers are granted only for significant family emergencies or personal illness. Reasons such as, “Something came up”, or “I’ve been really busy”, or “Relatives came unexpectedly”, or “My computer crashed”, etc. are unacceptable. Plan carefully and your papers and portfolio project will not be late.

9. Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend all class meetings. When a student is unable to attend class, it is a courtesy to notify the course instructor in advance using either e-mail or phone.

10. Participation Disclaimer

Active participation in class discussions/exercises/demonstrations is encouraged. As with other AGS courses, in this course, individual students must determine for themselves the level of disclosure/intimacy that is appropriate for them.

Whenever confidential information/material is used in any AGS course, students and faculty members are expected to observe AGS policy concerning the handling of confidential information/material. Full descriptions of these policies are readily available.

11. Academic Integrity Policy

Honesty and trust among students and between students and faculty are essential for a strong, functioning academic community. Consequently, students are expected to do their own work on all academic assignments, tests, projects, and research/term papers. Academic dishonesty, whether cheating, plagiarism, or some other form of dishonest conduct may result in failure for the work involved. Academic dishonesty could also result in failure for the course and, in the event of a second incident of academic dishonesty, suspension from the Adler Graduate School. Here are examples of academic dishonesty:

- Cheating - Intentionally using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in any academic exercise. The term academic exercise includes all forms of work submitted for credit.

- Fabrication - Intentional and unauthorized falsification or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise.

- Facilitating academic dishonesty - Intentionally or knowingly helping or attempting to help another to violate a provision of academic integrity.

- Plagiarism - The deliberate adoption or reproduction of ideas or words or statements of another person as one's own without acknowledgment.

12. Internet/On-Line Activity

On-line components Adler Graduate School classes provide an opportunity for open and insightful dialogue. As in face-to-face discussions, there are differences in opinions concerning topics discussed. We view these differences as welcomed attribute of a good scholarly discussion. Respect for differences will also be viewed as a sign of scholarly debate.

Following are guidelines governing on-line discussions:

- Never post content that is known to be illegal. Never post potentially harassing, threatening, or embarrassing statements, as well as statements that that might be potentially offensive and seen as disrespectful in any way.

- Faculty members monitor discussion and intervene when requested or as deemed necessary.

- On-line communication presents a significant level of ambiguity, as verbal content of communication is not well supported by its non-verbal (including contextual) components. If a student feels threatened or offended by a statement made by another student during on-line portion of a class, please address the issue immediately with the other student(s) to clarify their position and your reaction. If this does not work, contact your class instructor so actions can be taken if necessary.

- During on-line discussion, follow the same rules concerning protection of confidential information as you would follow in face-to-face discussion.

13. Nondiscrimination Clause

The Adler Graduate School is an equal opportunity educator and employer. The Adler Graduate School does not discriminate on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, age, sexual orientation, veteran status, or physical disability in the employment of faculty or staff, the admission or treatment of students, or in the operation of its educational programs and activities. The institution is committed to providing equal education and employment opportunities in accordance with all applicable State and federal laws.

14. Learning Accommodations (including students with disabilities)

If a student in this course has a documented learning disability, he or she should tell the instructor during the first week of class. The instructor needs to know on the front end so that he or she can work with the student. The Adler Graduate School is committed to helping all students be successful, as best as can be reasonably accommodated. Documenting a learning disability occurs at the student’s expense. When documented appropriately, the Adler Graduate School makes all reasonable accommodations.
