ACQUISITION OF DONATIONS

Adler Graduate School, MN is grateful to prospective donors who have generously decided to entrust their artifacts to the care of AGS. Careful thought and several considerations are given when accepting a donation to be confident the item contributes to our local history, is not duplicative, and can be given appropriate care. We reserve the right to refuse donations. The specific decision considerations for acceptance of a donation follow:

1. Does the donor have clear title to the item?
2. Does it have a place in Adlerian Psychology, history, theory, or practice?
3. Does it add breadth or depth to one of the identified priority areas of the current collection?
4. Is it adequately documented?
5. Does the condition or nature of the item suggest it could be well maintained by Adler staff?
6. Does Adler Graduate School, MN have the space in which to store it?
