Serious and Persistent Mental Illness (SPMI) & Trauma: Understanding Adult Mental Health Disorders and the Impact of Trauma

Presenter: Rachel Tiede, MA, MA

Seminar Date: September 16, 2016 8:30am-4:30pm  6.5 hours of continuing education credits

Training Description

This training will examine adults with histories of trauma and serious and persistent mental illnesses (SPMI) including Bipolar Disorder, Borderline Personality Disorder, Major Depression, Schizoaffective Disorder, and Schizophrenia. The DSM-5 criteria, etiology, interventions, and evidence-based practices for each disorder will be discussed. Further, the impact that these SPMIs have on the individual will be explored from a psychological, educational, and legal perspective. Special topics of discussion will include the role of attachment disorders, prenatal substance exposure, poverty and homelessness, neglect, family violence, traumatic brain injury, and substance use in clients with trauma and a diagnosed SPMI. This training will highlight recent research, with a focus on research findings published in 2015 and 2016.

Training Objectives

1. Review the DSM-5 diagnostic criteria for each of the listed SPMIs
2. Explore the role of substance use in adults with SPMI
3. Acquire insight into how SPMI and trauma alters independent living and social functioning
4. Understand the impact of SPMI and trauma on cognitively-impaired populations
5. Learn about the forensic implications of SPMI and trauma
6. Discover screening, intervention strategies, and best practices that are appropriate for individuals with SPMI and a history of trauma
